

Does JMS work with JoomFish?

Hi

I have a Website with four domain-names and that is appearing in tree languages.

Depending on the domain-name either of the languages should appear.

One of the websites should be accessible in two languages and therefore show a language-chooser. For this I generally use JoomFish.

Is it possible to organize the websites as described with JMS?

Thank you for your answer!

YES, you can install JoomFish on any slave site and configure them as you want.

The website are independent - So up to you to configure JoomFish appropriately.

We already have many customers that use JoomFish.
