Registered users only see theiir own sites

Posted by KingoftheRoad - 2009/02/19 15:04

Hi there,

This module is very good, indeed.

For security reasons, I would like to propose a new feature for your consideration in coming versions.

I.e. Registered front end users can only see their own websites in the front end of JMS. I think that is important if we use it to sell websites on the internet.

Or is there any method now to implement this?

Thanks.

==========

Re:Registered users only see theiir own sites

Posted by edwin2win - 2009/02/19 16:33

This is already the case.
If you are the Super Adminstrator, you see ALL the website.
This is done to allow the administrator to see exactly the same thing of all his customers (normal registered users).
Otherwise, the administrator has no way to potentially assist a customer is case of problem.

So if you see all the websites from the front-end, this is because you are Super Administrator.

==========