Pushing changes to slaves

Posted by buddyq - 2010/02/22 01:20

I thought I was in the master site which has K2 installed. I was actually in a slave site and installed the upgrade. Now when in the slave site backend under Components, I see two K2's.

What should I do? Also, if I uninstall both of the K2's from the slave, can I "push" any changes and upgrades to components I've made in the master down to all slaves? What about menu's?

Sorry for the noob question. and thanks in advance.

==========

Re: Pushing changes to slaves

Posted by buddyq - 2010/02/22 01:33

I figured it out. I just went ahead and tried what I said and it worked. I uninstalled one of the k2's on the slave and then went to master in the tools and overwrote it and it worked beautifully! What a wonderful component this is.

I have another question but I think I will start a new thread with it.

==========