Sharing other Tables like weblinks?

Where I have to define which tables could be shared from the master site? I would love also to share the weblinks tables, so I can use the same link table and links on all shared sites?

Share the weblinks is not possible because this would require to share the section and category and other inderect table . In summary, that would result to share the whole website.

The only solution that I see is the development of a "Multisites weblink" that would be able to read the weblink from another DB like the "aritcle sharing for JJMS" already do it.
Such extension is not planed.
