one main site, two registration

Posted by try - 2010/03/10 17:17

Hi!
I would to know if with JMS version 1.2 is possible to have 2 registration form with different fields but the possibility to login in one website.

I would to have two different accounts for single user and bands.. Single user have only standard registration fields, Bands more fields like band name, headline, ...etc.

And both users (single and band) can login in the same website with the same login module..

Is it possible to do?

Thank you in advance!

==========

Re: one main site, two registration

Posted by edwin2win - 2010/03/10 17:23

If you have module or extension that manage the different kind of things in joomla, this should work also.

For example you can have in a same website a standard joomla login and registration and also have a virtuemart login or community builder login or jomsocial login form.

Up to you to potentially develop your own "login" form tha will be able to manage both "normal" and "brand" users

==========

Re: one main site, two registration

Posted by try - 2010/03/10 17:32

Thank you for the reply!
What do you mean with "If you have module or extension that manage the different kind of things in joomla, this should work also."

Please can you give me further informations?

Thank you again

==========