Upgrade issues
Posted by buddyq - 2010/03/19 20:31

I upgraded before but did not uninstall the patches first. Today I have been trying to UNSHARE k2 component from some new slave sites I built.

I created a test site. After creating the test site, I noticed that nothing shows up when I click "Templates" in the main toolbar.

My site says:
Joomla Multi Sites version: 1.2.22 (Latest available: 1.2.25) Get Latest Version
Patches definition version: 1.2.28 (Latest available: 1.2.31)

In Patches section, Everything says OK except for configuration now says I need to patch it. There is no "uninstall" link in the top right. I don't know how to uninstall the patches so that I can upgrade and install the new patches.

Please help!!

==========

Re: Upgrade issues
Posted by buddyq - 2010/03/19 20:48

Okay now something has gone really wrong!

I decided to just delete the test slave site I made and hit delete. Upon hitting delete I got /joomla/jms2winfactory.php on line 418 as an error.

I searched on here for that but got nothing.

I hit refresh to get back to the Joomla administrator and then it goes to the installation folder and looks like it doesn't know about the configuration.php file! What has happened? Why did this happen and more importantly, how can I fix this?

I'm just trying to test how to unshare k2 component without have to undo everything.

Buddy

==========

Re: Upgrade issues
Posted by edwin2win - 2010/03/19 21:09

The "/joomla/jms2winfactory.php on line 418 as an error." mean that the configuration to the DB is not present.
Error that you have after.

I don't know if you have used the FTP Layer in your master or if you are trying to manage slave site from a slave site.
I remember that Jms Multisites should only installed on the master and is not designed to be managed from a slave site. We have disabled some functionalites when trying to used it in a slave site to avoid problem. Perhaps this is what you tried to do.

==========

Re: Upgrade issues
Posted by buddyq - 2010/03/19 22:25

_____

I did not try that. The only thing I did before I made the test site was:

1) Go to master site
2) Tool > Sharing
3) Uncheck K2
4) Open and close slave site to resave hoping this would stop the sharing of the K2 tables. It did not work.
5) Re-enable sharing for k2 (for testing).
6) Create another test slave site to test on.

Then I got error when trying to delete the new test slave site.

I look inside the master site and I have this inside configuration.php
==========

==========
What should I do?

==========

Re: Upgrade issues
Posted by buddyq - 2010/03/20 04:22

_____

Since i have a configuration.php with the above in it, I am wondering why the url:

http://www.311addieroy.com goes right to installing when it should be a live site.

I tried replacing the configuration.php with a backup I made a few weeks ago and it still just goes to installation page on master site. Seems something is wrong or got changed in the database. Please help!

Can I give you the login to my site and ftp and cpanel to check stuff? I think it did something to the database! Probably something simple for you.

Buddy

==========

Re: Upgrade issues
Posted by edwin2win - 2010/03/20 09:04

---

2) What do you mean by "unchecked". Do you use the action = "uninstall" K2 and click execute in the JMS tool.
5) What do you mean by "Re-enable sharing for k2". Does that mean Jms tool, select the slave site, action = "sharing from XXXXX" + execute. If sharing, which one (templates, master) ?

You have as many configuration.php files as you have website.
The one that you provide is the master one.
The other are located in the "deploy folder".

==========

Re: Upgrade issues
Posted by buddyq - 2010/03/20 09:21

Hi Edwin,

Yes, I say unchecked because there is a checkbox in the sharing tabs for K2. I unchecked it and then saved it because I dont want to share it with any slave sites. I went into my slave sites that have K2 shared and opened and saved them but they are still linked.

If you go to www.311addieroy.com, it goes to install page even though I have the JMS configuration in the directory.

My top priority is to get 311addieroy.com back up! I can't admin multisites since its wanting to install Joomla! 311addieroy.com is my master site. It is the site that has multisites installed on it and I admin every slave site from it.

==========

Re: Upgrade issues
Posted by edwin2win - 2010/03/20 18:27

OK, I have understood but this is NOT what I have requested to you.
You make reference to the JMS templates "sharing panel" where you have unchecked the "checkbox".
I have told you to go in the JMS tools.

==========