Search Replace Untility

Posted by trm001 - 2010/06/03 22:44

Hi Edwin

I'm having a problem changing the header image in the new slave, basically the new site logo, without changing the master logo. This is sourced from the template used on both sites, I have tried the Search Replace tool but this doesnt work.

I suspect this is because the image is loaded from within a templates CSS file (there are 3 colour schemes).

Is the only way to sort this to not link the templates between the master and slaves sites?

Please help.

Kind regards

Jamie

==========

Re: Search Replace Untility

Posted by edwin2win - 2010/06/04 10:27

When you have the page displayed, check in its source how is displayed the logo.
If it comes from a CSS, you have to change in the CSS.
If this is a tag where you have the path defined, you can use the Search/Replace but it this in the CSS, the Search/Replace will not find anything in the "htm" result rendering.

==========