Any project management com that works with JMS?

Posted by garysumpter - 2010/06/22 18:13

---

Hi all.

My GOD Jms is confusing!

What I am trying to achieve is one master site with a support ticket system, CRM, virtuemart and a project management system.

When someone signs up they should automatically have accounts on 6 other slave sites on separate domains.

Each site should have different virtuemart products on sale but all orders should go into one system.

Support tickets and project management updates should all go into the same system too.

It seems that there is a support ticket system, crm (civi) and virtuemart that syncs using JMS, but what about project management?

Jforce? Projectfork? Something else??

Help!!

Gary

==========