Multisites Menu Item DB error

Posted by mlgrise - 2010/07/22 12:40

I have installed multisites and multisites menu item. I also have Jomsocial.

I have created basic top menu items that move the user from one site to another by pointing to the Jomsocial group page for each slave site. It has been working for a few days. Now when I am on one slave site and I try to go to another slave site, I get the error
"Unable to retreive the DB connection relative to site".

I have not changed the DB connections, so I don't know what is causing this.

Normally, after this error message you should have the slave site ID for which the DB connection can not be retreived.

Check that you still have this slave site and that you have its definition in JMS and that it is working. Perhaps you are trying to access a slave site ID that does not exists anymore.
