Domains for Slave Sites

Posted by ricardoos - 2010/09/28 02:36

Hi Edwin,

I have a dedicated hosting where I have a CPanel for each one of my domains. In one of those domains I have the master joomla with multisites successfully installed and working. When I create new slaves sites I get the message to map the domains to home/xxx/multisites/slavesite but when I map a subdomain, from another CPanel to home/xxx/multisites/slavesite it dose not map correctly, I supose because it is a different CPanel.

Please advice me on how can I map slave sites to different domains with this dedicated hosting. Thankyou,

==========

Re: Domains for Slave Sites

Posted by edwin2win - 2010/09/28 11:38

When you create different cPanel account this mean that you have different linux owner or users. You will not have the permission to access from one account to the other one.

You have to use the same cPanel account for all the domains and use the AddOn Domain of your cPanel to defined the different domain present in the account.

If you have a dedicated server, verify in WHM that you have created a package that autorize to have AddOn domain (number of addon = X)

==========

Re: Domains for Slave Sites

Posted by ricardoos - 2010/10/01 16:40

Perfect, it solved it. thankyou.

==========