You need to subscribe to receive the notification.

You have a subscribe button to hlep you doing that.
The subscribed thread will be added to your profile.

I've been around forums for years so YES, I am subscribed and my email in up to date!

Most forums auto subscribe you when you create the thread but this forums NEVER sends me a notification!

If you know the kunena configuration that need to be done, please give us a detailled description.
All we see is that "susbscribe" configuration is set to YES.

I'm not familiar with Kunena, but their forums is here! http://www.kunena.com/forum
I looked around a little bit and it seem other webmaster as having the same problem but is should be working.

For what it is worth I don't get notified either even though it says I am subscribed to my own threads.

I will try to have a look in the kunena forum to see if there are bugs reported on that.

I don't know why you are not notified.
When I did the test, I recevied the email.

Perhaps you have the email received in a spam box.
