Google Analytics module help

Posted by tchager - 2010/10/30 15:35

I have created the analytics script on google and inserted it just above the tag on my master site template.
With the GA module when I create the script for a slave site do I just copy the individual code contained in the script and place it in the module and then the module will replace it in the template? Or do I need to make a placeholder for the code in the template within the script? Not sure I am following how the GA Module replaces the code within the template?

Thanks,

Tony

==========

Re: Google Analytics module help

Posted by edwin2win - 2010/10/31 00:00

Just go in the joomla extension / modules menu and enter the code in the back-end.
Also choice the position of the module if you want to install it at be begining of the page or in the bottom of the page.

Personnally, I installed the module in the footer.

==========

Re: Google Analytics module help

Posted by tchager - 2010/11/01 21:21

So you dohn't even have to install the script from google? Just the smaller code?

==========

Re: Google Analytics module help

Posted by edwin2win - 2010/11/02 11:03

YES like presented in the "free download" product description http://www.jms2win.com/free-download

Sample of configuration:

* www.domain1.com=UA-0000000-1
* www.domain2.com=UA-0000000-2
* =UA-0000000-3

==========

Re: Google Analytics module help
Posted by tchager - 2010/11/02 18:34

_____

Your instructions are very vague!

Do I still place the script above the /heading tag?

Is the script included within your module?

When you go to www.google.com/analytics it creates way more than just that small snippet of code you refer to in your instructions to place within your module.

==========

Re: Google Analytics module help
Posted by edwin2win - 2010/11/02 21:59

_____

This is perfectly clear.
Nowhere I have put a script.

Just put the domain EQUAL the google analytic code.

==========

Re: Google Analytics module help
Posted by tchager - 2010/11/02 23:24

_____

Thank you that clears it up.

==========

Re: Google Analytics module help
Posted by buddyq - 2011/07/18 19:55

_____

Hmm.... I'm following directions but no code is inserted. I made a module position called 'head' which I put inside my tags but nothing shows. I have the module enabled and code www.site.com=UA-3xxxx-xx but nothing.

==========

Re: Google Analytics module help
Posted by edwin2win - 2011/07/19 09:11

If the code is not inserted, this is because the domain name does not match.
If you just have one domain then does not put any domain but just the code.

==========

Re:Google Analytics module help

Posted by buddyq - 2011/07/19 21:29

Edwin,

Please give more details. Those are the worst instructions i've ever received.

- Do I put all the code in the module on the master site?

- on the site www.laceycross.com, I have www.lacecross.com=UA-.... in the module, is that what I should have?

I'm missing something and I don't know what it is. The domain name of www.laceycross.com should match if I'm on www.laceycross.com right?

==========

Re:Google Analytics module help

Posted by edwin2win - 2011/07/21 12:54

I don't know how to explain as everything is already explained.

If you are not able to enter the domain = the code then just enter the code without any domain name. It will be present for any domain.

If you want that I setup the environment for you, we have a billable support that you can order at http://www.jms2win.com/en/joomla-multisite?page=shop.product_details&flypage=flypage_multisites.tpl&product_id=35&category_id=1

==========