Multisites install and config
Posted by MrBean - 2012/05/22 05:50

Hi I have currently have 2 separate websites
1.http://www.ultragts.com.au/
and
2.http://www.wastewateraustralia.com.au/

I want to share articles(news) from no1 and display on site 2

I don't really want to totally convert sites to Slave.

I have installed multi sites component and article sharing on site no 2?

How do I configure to retrieve a category from site number 1 and display on site number 2?

==========

Re: Multisites install and config
Posted by edwin2win - 2012/05/24 22:31

If you want to keep both website (1) and (2) independent and in the same time allows the site (2) be able to read the articles from site (1) then you need to create in the site (2) a fake slave site that would define the same connection than the site (1).
So that the "article sharing for JMS" will be able to propose you the site (1) in the list of site.

In summary
- Go in site 2
- Install JMS (that you did)
- Install the article sharing (that you did)
- Create a fake slave site with the site (1) DB connection

Now you can connect on the site (1) from the site 2.

==========

Re: Multisites install and config
Posted by MrBean - 2012/05/28 06:14

I'm unsure of correct setting for dummy slave site - when creating new site I don't have feilds to set up the DB connection? I must be missing something? see below:

==========

Re: Multisites install and config
Posted by edwin2win - 2012/05/29 19:04

To have the DB parameters, you need to copy an existing website.
Otherwise, you setup a slave site for a fresh joomla installation and this is during the joomla installation that you will enter the DB parameters.

You need to select a "template site" to replicate to have the new DB parameters available.

==========

Re:Multisites install and config

Posted by MrBean - 2012/06/22 08:22

_____

I'm a bit nervous with setting up fake slave site - I do not want to "break" live sites can I please get some assistance with configuration?

==========

Re:Multisites install and config

Posted by edwin2win - 2012/06/22 09:37

_____

We also have a billable support that you can order at http://www.jms2win.com/en/joomla-multisite?page=shop.product_details&flypage=flypage_multisites.tpl&product_id=35&category_id=1

In this case, we work with skype and teamviewer to allow you sharing our desktop during the support. So we can teach you in the same time that we are doing the job with you online.

==========