websitestools - error code 500

Posted by mdadvice - 2012/09/05 13:02

This error is coming up after using webtools and managing the extensions of the master site.

In a previous post: the answers were:

"Verify that the slave site is correctly created and that you can access it correctly:"

- I can access it correctly, I think

Perhaps this is due to a wrong DB connection for this slave site.

-How can I know there is a wrong DB connection ?

TIA
Marc

==========

Re: websitestools - error code 500

Posted by edwin2win - 2012/09/06 09:50

If you can access the website in the back-end, that mean that the "configuration.php" is correct and that the DB connection is OK.

Can you specify the JMS version number and the joomla version number.

==========