Remository
Posted by robov - 2009/10/09 22:27

I downloaded the most recent remository and installed it.

In my master www/master remository works and I can create containers in my slave www/slave it does not work, creating a container redirects me to index2.php and a blank page is shown. and the db is not updated.... any suggestions

Can you be more explicit in the scenario and how to reproduce the issue.
This is not clear as remository is used by other customers.

As mentioned several time in the forum, a blank page is the symptom of a syntax error somewhere that my be due for exampel to a permission issue.
So it is difficult to tell you the origin of the error with your very brief description of the issue.

EXCELLENT... thank you for your tip.
Sometimes a suggestions brings out a solution
It happens that I used an old remository database with the new component

Restored the db and it is working again

Thanks..
p.s. even though I am struggeling on getting your comnpontent to work exactly as I want it. I really start to love it...
