Multisite content item component problem

1. Created a menu item on the slave site using the Multi Sites Articles sharing » Category / Blog menu.
2. When I update the master site content in that category, there is no change in the slave site view when clicking on the menu item.

Pls help.

Does cleaning the cache on the main site cause this problem ?

- 1) I suppose that the slave site, display category blog from the "master".
- 2) If (1) is OK then the update of an article present in the category of the master should be reflected in the slave site.

Perhaps you have effectivelly a problem of cache but I suspect a problem of cache in the browser or in the slave site (not in the master) as the website that display the article is the slave site (reading the master DB - so don't using any cache).

Another potential reason is the usage of a Proxy by your browser that could cache the pages.
