Starting Out with Rules

Posted by jamiegee - 2011/05/23 19:26

Hi,

I've read plenty but I'm still unsure what I'm doing beyond creating slaves sites.

My sites are working fine, however my symoblic links within the mulitple domain folders don't work - should they....?
I want to setup slave sites that have the same menu setup as the master (very simple),
Use the same database for my JV-LinkDirectory settings, so they are all the same across the slave sites - ooh! yeah!
Add my own content articles for each site separately
Have separate folders instead of symbiloc linking

I'm lost as to how to move forward....

Jamie

==========

Re: Starting Out with Rules

Posted by edwin2win - 2011/05/26 13:03

You can test if the symbolic link are available with the tutorial video 7 (hello world).
Symbolic Link is something available on Linux platform and may depends on the server settings that may or may not autorize using symbolic links.

The concept of JMS Multisites is based on the sharing of the joomla installation (php code).
So I don't recommend to perform a copy of the joomla directories except the images and templates directories that may have to be customized by users.

==========