Dear Edwin!

Recently, the problem began. Sometimes when I open a page I see other page from it or other slave site. Same problem in admin panel, when I open admin panel one site I see admin panel another site. The master site has the latest version Jomla 1.5/JMS and using cache plugin with APC. In additional I use Reverce Proxy but I see same problem when I go directly to Apache.
How to better diagnosis the problem?

Br, Dmitry.

For resolve the problem I have disabled Joomla chache. I tryed to set different php accelerators and to set cache by files, but result is same. Could you write any additional recommendation about cache option?

I have the same problem.
I can't use APC cache in joomla with JMS...
Why? Because it will show me the same content across different websites - I mean: it'll show the same cache files independently of what site you are visiting (it caches the first site you visit and then shows the same thing over and over again until cache is refreshed, and then repeats the same cicle...)

Any solution? This is a no-go for me. I prefer to have APC than having JMS running with very slow sites...

JMS doesn't support APC cache?

We don't know the APC cache and if you want that we review this extension, please send us this extension in the attachement of an email that you can find in the "contact us".

I suppose that this extension does not use the "cache" directory that is created for the slave site but is using the "master" website cache that may explain it shared the cache content.
