Front End New Site not saving, no error message

Posted by amityweb - 2011/06/01 11:49

Hi

I have linked to the front end form to create a new site. When I fill int he fields and click Save, it takes me back to this same page, removes the fields I entered, and shows no success or error message. The site is not created.

Also, I dont know if its related, but the Administrator username field is missing. Just nothing there. The Administrator username field is then grey. So I set the Admin user in the template and hid these fields from displaying. (but the issue existed befofe I did this also).

Thanks

==========

Re: Front End New Site not saving, no error message

Posted by edwin2win - 2011/06/03 15:46

Sorry, I don't see where is your error.
Perhaps you could try to follow the video 14 or 13 that show how to create a website from the front-end.

Enter exactly the same value.
In most case, we are using keyword to be generic.

http://www.jms2win.com/en/tutorial#jms12x-14
http://www.jms2win.com/en/tutorial#jms12x-13

The video 14 start to show a free website creation before converting it into a billable website creation.

==========