Article sharing: layout not 100%

Posted by edithhr - 2009/06/23 17:39

Just bought Article Sharing. I have two issues now: :dry:

- slaves don't take their own layout in the designed headers above an article. The same article in master shows the header once given the slaves template;
- the frontpage articles are all put it one instead of three seperate one like they should, and like they are in the master.

I tried to look for answers in this Forum. "Article sharing" gives 49 results in 4 pages. Whether I choose 2,3 or 4 or next: I can only see 1 page (15 results). Checked it on 2 different computers :(

Thanks for helping me out (again...)

The problem is due to the fact that the themes has re-implement "com_content" but not the "Article Sharing" that is "com_multisitescontent".

With the "Article Sharing" 1.0.7, it contains now the possibility to use the "com_content" present in the themes (template) when "com_multisitescontent" is not present in the themes.
With this solution, this avoid to update the "themes" to implement the "com_multisitescontent"
