New slave site blank for frontend

Posted by blomman890 - 2009/04/02 15:45

_____

But backend works and everything seems ok. This means i can login on http://www.xxxx.com/administrator but when i try too access http://www.xxxx.com it is blank. If i try to put webpage offline its still blank without showing default server offline message.

I suppose i missed something simple but i cant find out what. Any suggestions?

Thanks.

If you have deployed the slave site into a specific directory, check that the index.php file present in the slave site deploy directory can be executed and has permission to call the original master index.php file located in the master root directory.
